

Reduction in Grounds and Environment budget

This service has seen a funding reduction of 46% since 2013, the service has over this period of time, seen many changes, including different work patterns to maximise resource availability. The service also provides resilience to the waste collection, waste disposal and burial service, this will further reduce the services' capabilities. Also resilience during severe weather events and for assistance in local events.

Reductions in service will further reduce the aesthetic appearance of Argyll & Bute for visitors and residents.

No specific public consultation has been carried out prior to this proposal going ahead.
